Mrs. J. T. Marston

We, the Senior Class of 1943, dedicate this volume of The Middlesaxon to all the boys who have gone from Saluda High School into the armed services of our country. Since they have proven themselves unafraid and willing to sacrifice their lives for our liberty, they have inspired us to work more diligently and strive to make our high school years more successful.

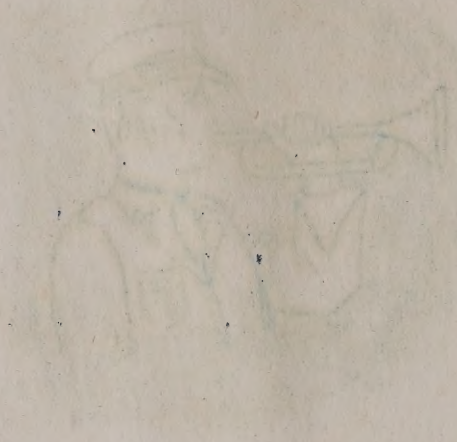
The bugler calls directly to us, the class of '43. All of our boys will soon be in some branch of our armed forces, and our girls too, will be fighting not only on the home front but perhaps on the fighting front. We realize that we have a twofold job ahead of us. The first and foremost is that of winning the war, then we face the reconstruction of a better America, and a better world. We accept this challenge and will go forth to do our best.



With faith in God and confidence in ourselves we face the future unafraid.

CLASS HISTORY

Four years ago, we, who are now seniors began our high school career as proud freshmen in 1939. This new school life was something entirely different for us but we soon caught on and progressed rapidly. To our good fortune the tradition of having had just about died out, although we received quite a few chores. Just in case we decided not to work there were always a few upper-classmen around armed with paddles.

The freshman year was our most difficult. There were so many new faces to learn, new methods of teaching and other things we had to get used to. Garland Haynes was elected president of our class and Mrs. Marston was our sponsor. It was during this year that we suffered and irreplaceable loss, the death of our principal, Mr. Brown.

When we reached our Sophomore year, we really began to feel like a part of Saluda High. We were beginning to realize that we must learn to carry on when our time came. To start the year we chose Billy Wagenen for president. Our sponsor was Miss Linthicum. We were also very fortunate to have Mr. W. W. Fraley as our new principal, whom we have learned to love and admire. Customary to the old tradition of Saluda we Sophomores inherited the "stage room". Anyone who has attended our school will know what that means. During this year we welcomed a new member to our class, Audrey Mills.

Now we were really big shots for we had become Juniors. We could hardly believe that we were only one year from being Seniors. Elsie Cary Jones was president and Miss Glenn sponsor of our proud class. The privilege of entertaining the Seniors was at last ours. Due to the war we were unable to plan anything that called for much traveling so we gave them a weiner roast. Our duties had increased considerably for now we were to take part in helping the Seniors with the annual and paper. Various other tasks were left to us also. With pride we anxiously accepted them. Then came that unforgetable day, December 7, 1941 which changed the futures of all of us.

Hurrah! At last the great year had come for us. We were Seniors, the most highly privileged members of any high school. It was our duty to carry on now. With Shep Chowning as president and Mr. Fraley as sponsor we set out to make our class Saluda's best. Although the class was only half as large as it originally was we still had our determination to do well. This year it was our job to publish the "Middlesaxon" and the "Breeze" in which we took great pride. The fact that we were at war meant that instead of going to college, every boy in our class was to eventually serve for the duration in the armed forces. We had our Senior dance at the Urbanna Beach Hotel on March 12 and were honored by the presence of a large number of British sailors. Work on the annual kept us busy all spring and then on top of that, preperation for commencement began. Our graduation exercises were a little different from the age-old commencements but since we were at war it seemed appropiate to have a patriotic theme.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Due to the transportation difficulties, varsity teams were not organized this year. We, however, did have intramural teams which gave all the girls a chance to enter into the activities. While four of the teams were playing games such as basketball, softball, and volleyball, the other team would participate in several skills. These consisted of climbing rope, high jump, broad jump, and other exercises which were part of the calestenics program outlined for the school.

Exercises were given daily in order to make the youth of this country more physically fit. All entered the program with the proper spitit, enjoying it as well as realizing it was their duty.

BOYS' SPORTS

The Government has asked every school in the country to have a program that would build and develop the bodies of young America.

Mr. Fraley who has been in the army and who is an athletic instructor, has been giving all the boys military calesthenics the first part of the activities period.

The boys have been divided into three groups: 13-14 year olds, 15 year olds, 16-17-18 year olds. Each of these groups was divided into two teams, one of which would play basketball, another would play socker ball, and the third would practice the development of some physical skill. This schedule would alternate every day.

BASKETBALL

Due to war conditions the Saluda Basketball team for the '42-'43 season was asked by the Superintendent not to travel to play basketball.

Christchurch School was so near that the two schools decided to work out a plan so that they could every week. Soon the boys came to know each other, and both teams looked forward to the next game. Even though we lost a number of games, the boys enjoyed the season very much.

CATTY CHATTER

"Alas, the end has come!" This quotation from Silliam Whakespeare is too true for us seniors, but only from one angle. There's the fact that it is also the beginning of new goings-on, but let's talk about the jolly past....

Will you ever forget---the sad departure of the Williamses last fall or the arrival of the Olivers in town---how the Urbanna girls looked anxiously forward to the first Friday night Christchurch made appearance----how the American History class didn't quite realize what they were in for at first. (Fraley soon put 'em wise.)---the first publication of our paper, "The Breene"---- the tales that went around about the Home Ec.-Future Farmers Initiation party?

How 'bout--- the time the college crowd came home for Christmas vacation. They really did show their "country cousins" a thing or two. Yessah, college seems to teach them all the answers.-- the time Margie and Pauline arrived at school fashionably late in that ritzy cream convertible---and the many times Boyd's infernal teasing caused us to have murder in our hearts for the dear boy, though we can't help but laugh at times. How Christine has endured it so long is hard to understand.

I know the majority of us, especially the mimbers of the fairer sex will never forget----the surprise visit of British fleet to this vicinity---and what a success the Senior dance was mainly because of those dashing sailors from the British Isles. Another sea faring group (U. S. Guard Coast, by name,) had representatives here at frequent intervals, who also helped to break the monotony of it all.

Remember---how Garland kept the teachers in a frenzy for these nine months, when he so often allowed those lengthy lashes to droop---the professor's jokes, but we'd better not say a word 'cause we only wish he and we could be here next year to enjoy (?) 'em---what an all-out success the Jeep Campaign was. Here's a hearty handshake to Pauline who faithfully walked back and forth to Saluda each day to purchase these Victory Bonds.

And how 'bout that helpless feeling we got when we first started work on the annual. We thought we'd never live thru it, but by some miracle we survived, and this volume of thrills, chills, and stuff-like-that-there is representative of our labors.

Without going into the particular affairs of the particular students, I'll stop this talk right about here.

'Bye.....
